SAID TO BE SUSTAINED.

on the findings and the general results of his investigation.

It is stated that President Roosevelt re-quired a thorough investigation of the matsible, the police efficiency in the locality.

Mr. E. L. Jordan has stated that in his letter to the President complaining of the conduct of the Fort Myer soldiers toward his daughters he did not make a specific charge against Deputy Marshal Wibert. He did not say that the deputy acted with "timidity bordering on cowardice." He claims that such an inference was formed, but that no specific charge of that character was made in the official correspondence.

INQUIRY ABOUT OVER STILL UNDECIDED

CHARGES AGAINST SOLDIERS WASHINGTON AND HIS DOLLAR UNDER DISCUSSION.

Acting under instructions issued from the Mr. Lue Rutz of Arkansas is not to be War Department at the instance of Presidisappointed. A few days ago he wrote a dent Roosevelt, Mr. Aulick Palmer, United letter to the mayor of Washington (which States marshal for the District, detailed in due course reached the District building) Deputies Edgar L. Tanner and Patrick in which he made the assertion that "at some place in the District of Columbia F. Cusick to duty at the Aqueduct George Washington threw a silver dollar bridge and the government reservation, on the Virginia side, with instructions to infarther than any one else." Mr. Rutz vestigate, in every detail, the alleged inwanted to know the exact point at which suit and hold-up of the daughters of Mr. the feat was accomplished, and his request E. L. Jordan of Ballston, Va., by Fort was deemed of so much importance that Myer soldiers the evening of the 19th space was given the story in The Star. Many readers were interested in the tale, instant, particulars of which were published exclusively in The Star Thursday. The official inquiry is about concluded, and it is understood the charges are fully susand, it develops, not a few of them had theories of their own regarding the time and place of the display of strength by the tained.
The deputies made an extensive canfather of his country. Some half dozen wrote to Commissioner Macfarland suggesting that Mr. Rutz be informed that "a dollar went farther in those days," while others had various "recollections" of the vass among the citizens residing on both sides of the bridge, with a view to getting an expression of opinion from each on the subect of conditions complained of, besides making notes of their personal observa-tions. They will make daily reports to headquarters of what they learn, after which the marshal will forward his report

"C. M. L." wrote: "I shall be glad to throw additional light on the query of Mr. Lue Rutz of Arkansas in regard to George Washington throwing a dollar; he is said to have thrown a silver dollar across the Potomac river at Mt. Vernon, a most extraordinary feat, considering the width of the river but, then you know a dollar. quired a thorough investigation of the matter, with instructions to the marshal to have the report forwarded to him. The commandant at Fort Myer has expressed his deep regret at the incident.

Under the direction of Major Sylvester Lieut. Henry Schneider of the local force is also conducting an investigation of the occurrence and of the conditions complained of, with a view of lending what assistance he can and improving if posthe river, but, then, you know, a dollar went farther in those good old days. In addition to the above story and the one in regard to throwing an English sovereign across the ocean, he is also credited with having made 'the Hessian fly,' which is rather a doubtful honor. I hope that Mr. Rutz will appreciate these brilliant side lights on early American history."

Cites a Legend.

"There is a legend that Washington threw a silver dollar from Hawk's Nest, W. Va., into the Kanawha river," averred C. S. K., "and to a person standing on the rock it would seem that the river is directly beneath, but it is impossible for any one standing there to hurl a rock into the water. It is said that the article thrown by the father of our country was a silver dollar, but that was a long time ago, and we hear that a dollar went far-ther then than now."
"I fear that the 'Arkansaw traveler' has been made the victim of an almost forgotten joke told of Washington at Mt. Vernon, when he stood in front of the man-sion and threw a silver dollar across the Potomac to the Maryland shore," volun-teered W. B. "One would naturally say it would be impossible for any one living to perform such a feat, but we all know that a dollar then would go much farther than it would now."

Some show of authority for his statements was given by G. H. C., when he wrote: "I believe the story is true in Washington Irving's 'Life of Washington,' page 16, chapter II, which says: 'As a proof of his muscular power a place is still pointed out at Fredericksburg, near the lower ferry, where, as a boy, he flung a stone across the Rappahannock.' I think this may be the information the Arkansas man desires."
